Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Thursday 30 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Unsettled with showers, windy in the west on Friday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Showers becoming less widespread for a time this evening, but becoming widespread and heavy at times overnight. The chance of hail and the odd rumble of thunder. Northern Isles and far north becoming mainly dry.

Friday:
A rather showery day, the showers heavy at times and merging into longer outbreaks of rain in the northwest However, drier and brighter spells in the east. Gales in northwest.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Bright spells and showers on Saturday, but heavy rain extending north later. Otherwise bright with showers on Sunday and Monday, risk of gales across Shetland.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.